Introduction

COVERAGE

This disposal schedule covers records which have been created in the response to the COVID-19 disease emergency.

This schedule is intended to be used alongside your agency's schedule and applicable general disposal schedules: Common Administrative Functions (DA2157), Short Term Value Records (DA2158) and Source Records (DA2159).

The COVID-19 pandemic is a significant historical event. The Office of the State Archivist (OSA) is working with agencies to identify records which will be kept in the Tasmanian Archives to represent the response of the public sector to this pandemic. These records may not have a permanent retention in ordinary times.

To ensure that COVID-related records can be readily identified and retrieved from your organisation's record management system in the future, we suggest that you add appropriate metadata. We recommend the tag 'COVID-19' or a similar identifier.

ARCHIVES LEGISLATION

The Archives Act 1983 (Tas) stipulates that State and local government organisations must not dispose of records of any type or format without the written approval of the State Archivist.

Disposal of records involves their destruction, their removal from custody of their creating agency, or their transfer to the Tasmanian Archives.

Section 10 (1) (a) of the Act requires agencies to preserve records until they are dealt with under the Act. This places a statutory obligation on agencies to ensure that all records, regardless of format, remain accessible while they are in the custody of the agency.

DEFINITIONS

Permanent records are those that will be transferred to the Tasmanian Archives to be retained as State archives. The Act establishes 25 years as the maximum required timeframe for the transfer of permanent records to the Tasmanian Archives unless an extension of time has been approved by the State Archivist.

Temporary records are those that can be destroyed under the authority of this schedule after a minimum retention period, and/or once certain requirements have been met.

DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS

The destruction method chosen for records authorised for destruction in this schedule should be appropriate to the medium in which the record exists. It is the responsibility of the agency to ensure that the identified records are actually destroyed, and that this process is confidential and secure.

REGISTRATION OF DESTRUCTION

Central to the accountability built into the disposal schedules is the requirement that agencies maintain a Register of Records Destroyed. It is important to recognise that the formal evidential record of destruction is contained in this registration process. The register is to be made available to the State Archivist (or his nominee) on request.

The register must be clearly identified as the Register of Records Destroyed (under Section 20 (2) (b)) of the Act and should include the name of the agency. The register can be the same used for registering destructions authorised under other disposal schedules. A sample format indicating the required elements for the register and related procedures are available from the Office of the State Archivist.

INVESTIGATIONS OR INQUIRIES

During and after the COVID-19 disease emergency, there are likely to be investigations and inquiries into contact tracing and other elements of the responses to the emergency.

If an investigation or inquiry is in progress or pending, all records relevant to the investigation or inquiry must be identified and preserved until the action and any subsequent actions are completed.

PERSONAL INFORMATION PROTECTION

Personal Information Protection legislation provides appropriate safeguards for government agencies in collecting and handling individual's personal information, creating statutory obligations and a right to make a privacy complaint.

Generally, personal information can only be used and disclosed for the purpose for which it was collected, and an organisation must take reasonable steps to destroy or permanently de-identify personal information when it is no longer needed for that purpose.

If an application under this legislation is in progress, all records relevant to the application, regardless of whether they are due for destruction, must be identified and preserved until the action and any subsequent actions are completed.

RIGHT TO INFORMATION

Right to Information legislation prescribes rights and processes for access to documents held by government agencies. If a request for access under the legislation has been lodged, all records relevant to the request, regardless of whether they are due for destruction, must be identified and preserved until action on the request and any subsequent reviews are completed.
